

HR Support - help when you need it

HR Insight has extensive hands-on experience of human resource management and employment law and puts it to great effect in delivering a customer driven and solution focused response service.

HR Insight's response services range from a simple telephone call to drafting letters and investigating grievances; from on-site consultancy services to the overall management of a complete redundancy or consultation programme.

More usually however, the HR Insight team works with you, as an integral part of your management team, helping you achieve your business objectives through the correct management of your people.

Our clients receive regular updates of new UK employment laws, and practical help in implementing any required changes.

In short, we act as your HR Advisers bringing you our expertise, as much or as little as you need, with more flexibility and less fixed expense than any other outsourced model. By working with HR Insight, you have us on hand, whenever and wherever you need us to be.
